Team Coverage that Tackles College Sports Risks Head On

FACING THE RISK HURDLES OF INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORTS
Intercollegiate sports programs offer the school community a sense of pride and accomplishment. But they can also pose great risk to the players and other participants.

Athletic program directors and school administrators, as well as parents and guardians, need to understand these risks and make sure they are prepared for the unexpected costs that can result from the serious injuries related to an accident.

As the insurance administrator for these intercollegiate sports programs, you need a carrier that understands these unique risks and can support you with tailored underwriting and marketing. The committed specialists of AXIS Accident & Health can help you cross the finish line with specialized coverages for your customers.

We field our own experienced team of product, underwriting and sales specialists with expertise in developing accident programs especially for intercollegiate sports teams. We keep you in the game by anticipating and addressing current and future challenges with special benefits and services, offering you flexibility and customization you won’t find with other carriers.

Customized Solutions for a Larger Playing Field

Team protection includes more than the players on the field. Recognizing the logistical complications that can occur when sports teams compete abroad, we can deliver a coverage program that includes out-of-country medical benefits, emergency evacuation and repatriation. We can deliver high limit base and catastrophic coverage, as well as travel accident and participant coverage at home and abroad.

We understand that not only team members are at risk, so we can expand our coverage to athletic directors, coaches, trainers, cheerleaders and other key participants. Even when the team doesn't have home field advantage.

Team coverage can be expanded for:

- Student trainers, managers and coaches
- Student cheerleaders, including non-sponsored competitions
- Coaches and athletic directors
- Prospective athletes and their chaperones

Covered sports activities can include participation in or attendance of:

- Sponsored sport events
- Practice, training, tryouts, workouts and team meetings
- Travel between the sport event and home, school or other designated location
- Overnight stays related to the sport event

A Unique Playbook to Help You Win the Race
